

SURVEY ON HANDLING QUALITY REQUIREMENTS IN AGILE FRAMEWORKS (01/2023)*

After the publication of Rainer Grau's RE Magazine article on the topic of quality requirements, we called on our community to participate in our survey on this topic. We wanted to know how you assess the importance of quality requirements in agile frameworks and whether you know and use the concepts in your daily work. The results show that although most respondents do not yet use any of the concepts, they consider the topic relevant to their work.

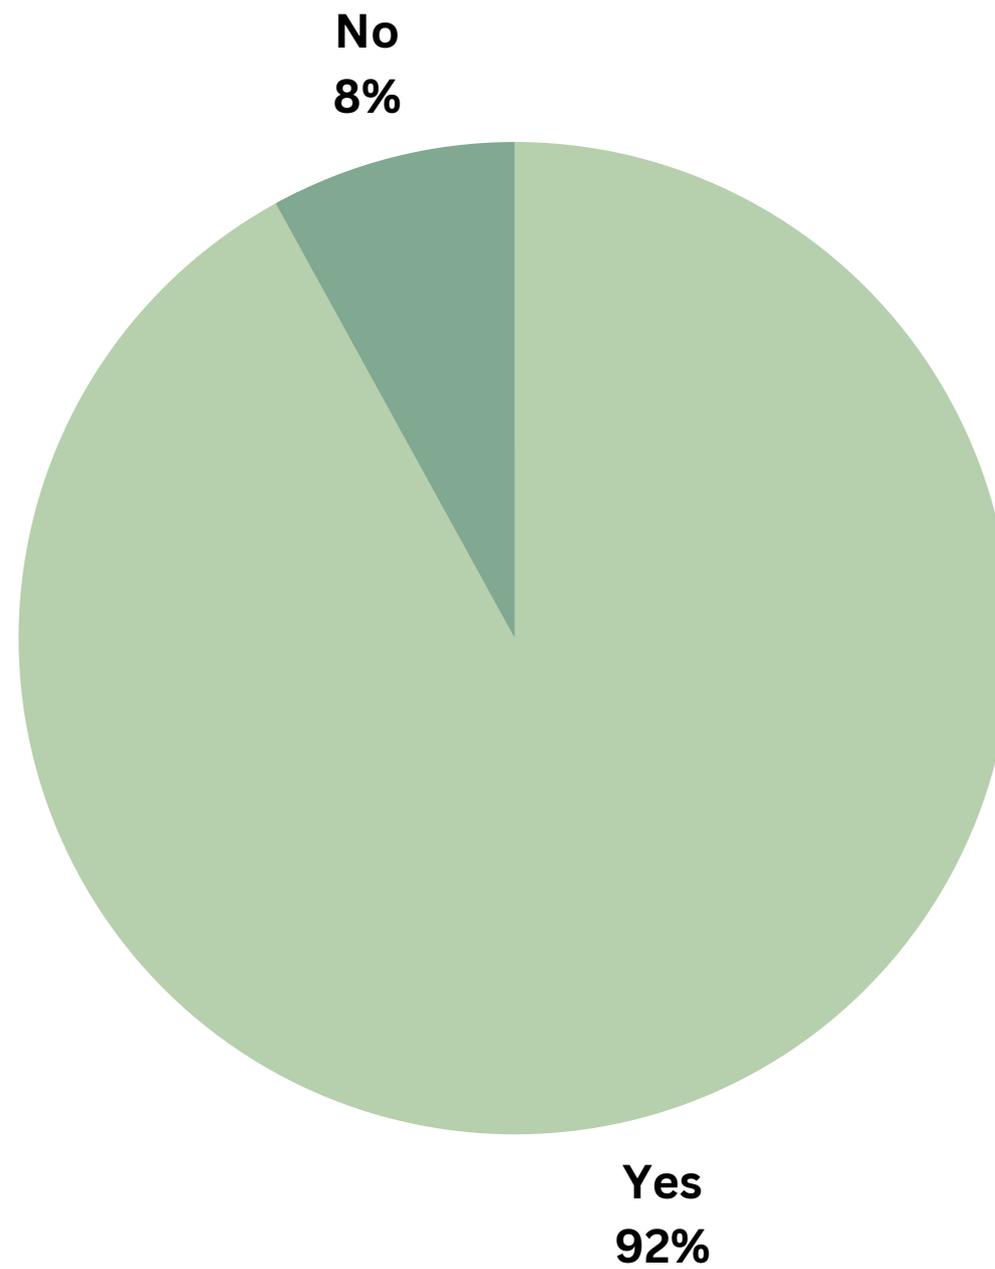

*26 people participated in this survey.

Did you already know and use concepts to handle Quality Requirements in agile frameworks?

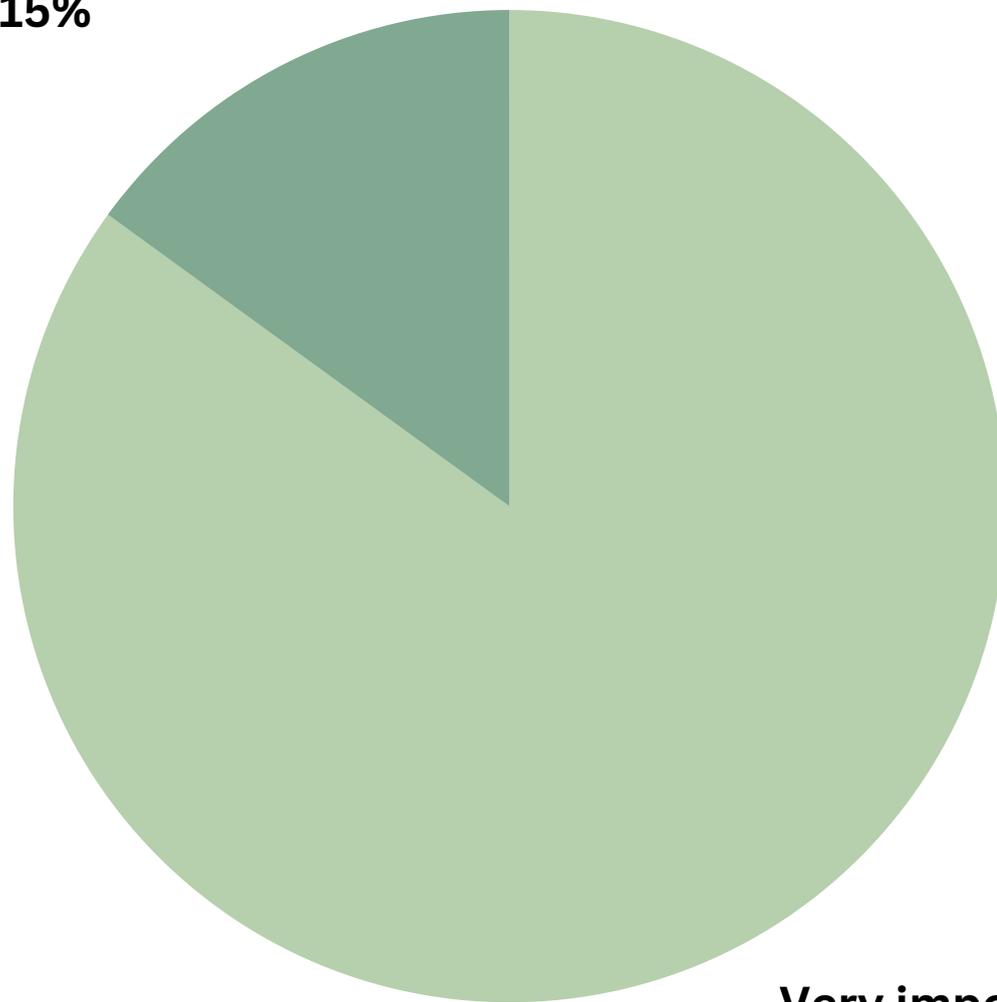

Do you think that agile frameworks need a dedicated handling of Quality Requirements?

How do you rate the relevance of the RE-Magazine article
"Concept for the successful handling of integral NFRs in Scaled Agile Environments" with respect to your daily work?
